

Projects Assessment

Uncover the value of your projects

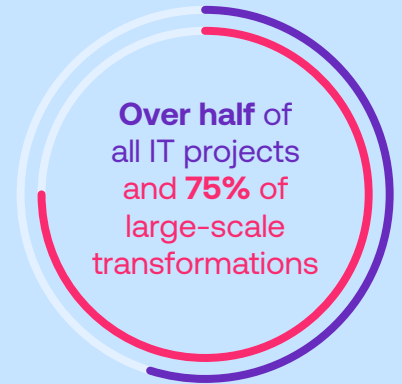

Do your projects deliver on time? And do they come in on budget?

Many organisations spend £millions on projects, programmes and initiatives which do not necessarily align to business value drivers. This could be due to an idea or an internal demand to get a project delivered, which in reality, shouldn't be a priority, or which when delivered, doesn't provide business benefits.

Did you know?

fail to meet their objective.

Your free 2-day assessment

Kerv Consult can review your portfolio of projects and programmes to enable you to deliver your strategy.

Our 2-day assessment will help you to identify:

Are you delivering the right projects?

Are you able to deliver them successfully?

We can tell you which of your projects will deliver the greatest value, the ability of your organisation to deliver them, and how to improve your chances of successful delivery.

PwC recently

The outcome

Through our assessment, we will provide you with a clear and digestible report with a series of actionable recommendations.

Ultimately, you will be able to identify the priorities in your portfolio and how you can move them forward.

This will allow you to focus on the right activities for your business, confirm they support your goals and discard those which do not support your business outcomes.

What our clients say

Harrow Council wanted to increase the autonomy over their services in order to strengthen and modernise delivery to their customers.

Kerv Consult staff understood and embodied the culture change needed to make this happen – staff from separate organisations were coming together to form a new team where the customer was put first and we encouraged positive teamwork and fun.

Ben Howard, IT Director Harrow Council

Nuclear Transport Solutions wanted to integrate three legal entities within the UK's Nuclear Decommissioning Authority (NDA) with the aim to be the leader in transport solutions across the UK through a targeted transformation programme.

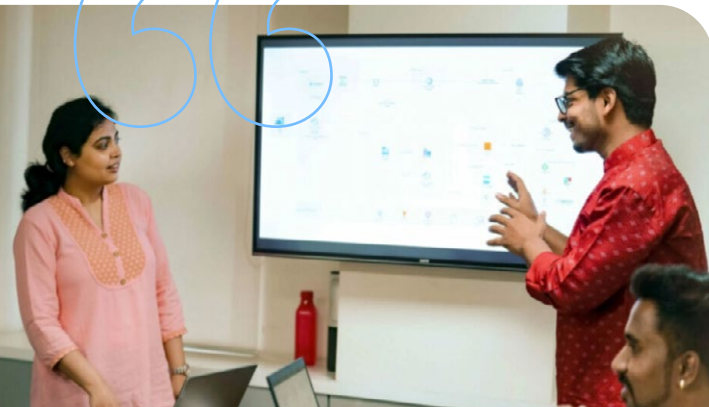

Bringing in individuals from the outside who have done IT and organisational design and seen it in different places is vital. Kerv Consult has come in and set the standard for where we should be and how we get there.

Seth Kybird, NTS Chief Executive Officer

Marshall Canada needed to implement a new ERP solution to standardise ways of working and to prepare themselves for future growth.

Dan's personal leadership and extraordinary efforts helped deliver a complex ERP solution despite the challenges of being fully-remote and across 8 time zones. Using a highly-collaborative and data-driven approach, the team from Kerv Consult maintained a high degree of stakeholder participation and buy-in throughout a compressed test and development schedule of less than five months.”
